LUST Servosistemi becomes LTi ITALiA –

The Italian subsidiary of LTi changes its name

Since the 20th February 2009 LTi in Italy has a new name:

“LTi ITALiA”.

This brings the Italian subsidiary of LTi DRiVES, specialists in drive and automation technology, in line with the name of the international group of companies – LTi.

“This name change is part of an initiative to use the same names for our divisions within Europe. By doing this we hope to demonstrate our global presence and show that LTi structures are mirrored internationally“, explains managing director Dr.

Wolfgang Lust.

This unity will soon be easy to see: the new Italian logo is going to mirror the LTi group logo.

LTi ITALiA with headquarters in Milan has been continuously improving LTi DRiVES' international market presence since 2006 and will in future also be supporting renewable energy projects (photovoltaics and use of surplus power for energy conversion). A first milestone in this direction will be the SOLAREXPO (7th to 9th May 2009) in Verona. On Italy's most important trade fair for renewable energies LTi ITALiA will be exhibiting PVmaster, LTi's new central inverter.
